Major Hayden A. Trigg

Dear Major Trigg:

General Smith has asked me to reply to your letter of 27 November, in which you spoke of your desire to be placed on extended active duty. Unfortunately, there is little that General Smith can do to help you since, in his position as Director of Central Intelligence, he necessarily must not become involved with the administrative operations of the Department of Defense.

I suggest that you contact the Adjutant General, who will be able to give you all information regarding extended active service.

Very truly yours,

Assistant to the Director
